Just For Parents

Mark your calendars now for February 11 and April 8 at 10am in Keller Hall! These parent talks are a wonderful way to continue your parent education, pick up practice pointers, and hear from veteran parents.

Mad About Music

A touring group based out of the String Lab School, Mad About Music is a group of young musicians who perform folk music from all over the world. MAM took a very successful tour of Ireland in summer 2016, and is busy preparing for upcoming events. MAM runs the Saturday morning snack bar as part of their fundraising efforts. Stop by for a snack and ask about their trip!

Greetings! We hope you had a wonderful, restful winter break. We are very excited to be back and are looking forward to an exciting spring semester. This newsletter contains information about the spring semester at the String Lab School, including noon recitals, parent talks, and exciting opportunities for our interns and your students.

Noon Recitals are a great opportunity for your young musician to perform and celebrate the progress of their peers. This semester's noon recital dates are as follows:

UNM CONTINUING EDUCATION AUDITORIUM

On April 1, we will be hosting a special April Fool's Day recital at noon in Keller Hall. The UNM String Lab School coordinators and interns are already hard at work preparing lots of silliness, and hope you'll join us. All well-rehearsed, silly acts are invited to participate!

The String Lab School Gala Concert will be Sunday, April 9, at 3pm in the Continuing Education Auditorium. Watch your email for details about this event!

A NOTE ABOUT PARKING

Parking permits will be distributed during the first two weeks of classes. PLEASE DISPLAY THESE ON YOUR DASHBOARD. Replacement/additional permits are available for purchase for $10. You may park in A Lot in regular permit spaces without a permit as long as you do not park in reserved or metered spaces. The UNM String Lab School is not responsible for parking citations.
